MEET OUR GUESTS

Cindy A Matthews (AKA Cynthainna; Celine Chatillon) & Adrian J. Matthews

Cindy grew up watching Star Trek & reading every sci-fi book she could get her hands on. Adrian is a British author, artist and occasional journalist. Their most recent book is Olivia's Decision, which is book 3 in the Blooddark series that they coauthor. You can purchase copies directly from them or go to <http://blooddarkbooks.blogspot.com> to purchase or for more information. Facebook is their kryptonite because it is such a big time suck. When not writing Cindy is a freelance editor/proofer and Adrian paints and makes models.

Eddie Wilson

Eddie is an artist/author/storyteller and proprietor of Whisperstudio quietly bringing you timeless adornment, dangerous, curiosities, majikal charms and delicious artwerks. Eddie's latest story is "Seeking the Darkest Gods" and is available at www.eddiewilsonpresents.itemorder.com. He has learned that when he gets an idea he has to write it down immediately or it may evaporate into the aether. For him, literary success looks like reading a story that used to be a stack of blank pages. Eddie says Ray Bradbury was the pro who most influenced his work.

Brian Katcher

Brian has won several awards for his books including the North Carolina Young Adult Book Award and the Stonewall Award for LGBTQ books. His most recent work "Deacon Lock Went to Prom" is the story of a high school senior who takes his grandmother to prom. His writing kryptonite is the internet and if he couldn't write he would be having a major mid-life crisis. When not writing, he masquerades as a school librarian. His books can be found where books are sold. For more information, visit www.briankatcher.com.
